

The Digby Scallop

For Deirdre Morrell-Ormerod and The Fundy Chorale

Words and Music by:
David Holborn

Freely ♩ = 100

S1/S2 mf

A mf

Piano mf

* Come gath - er 'round and (This) bib - li - cal le -

6

lis - ten now, we've got a tale to tell, a - bout an an - cient crea - ture that up - vi - a - than, a thou - sand met - res 'round, weighed in at just a mil - lion tons, say

* One note per stem means both voices sing it.

The Digby Scallop

11

on the earth did dwell. From long be - fore the di - no - saur this an - i - mal could give or take a pound. Two thou - sand eyes a - round its mouth would make your blood run be, the larg - est thing to ev - er be a men - ace in the sea. Be - cold. If you were caught with - in its gaze, O mer - cy on your soul. Now neath the waves of Fun - dy Bay, one dark and stor - my night, a new moon shone be - when it was a - wak - end and it op - ened up its shell, it coughed up Bri - er

16

21

Ah mp Ah

The Digby Scallop

26

fore the dawn could send its morn - ing light. With se - ven plan - ets all a - lined and Is - land and the Dig - by Neck as well. And when it closed its shell a - gain, it

Ah

31

mf one gi - gan - tic wal - lop, a bolt of light - ning struck the deep and woke the Dig - by sent a surge a - rac - in, that sped its way up Fun - dy Bay and dug the Min - as

f

36

Scal - lop. This Bas - in.

1. mf 2.